

Frequently Asked Hearing Questions

What causes hearing changes?

- Excessive noise exposure is the leading cause of adult hearing loss in the United States
- Aging can impact inner ear function, the tiny hair-like cells and auditory nerves that help you hear
- Certain illnesses and diseases like meningitis, heart disease, and diabetes
- Other factors, such as head injuries, family history, certain medications, and smoking

How can I protect my hearing?

- Wear hearing protection
- Turn down the volume
- Maintain a healthy lifestyle
- Understand your medication side effects

Who has hearing loss?

Hearing loss affects people of all ages. The graphic shows percentages of hearing loss by age.¹

When should I get my hearing checked?

Hearing can change so gradually that you may not even notice. It's important to have your hearing checked every three to five years, or annually if are over 50 or have experienced any of the following:

- Consistent exposure to loud noises
- Difficulty understanding in noisy environments
- Asking people to repeat themselves or feeling like they are not speaking clearly
- Ringing in your ears

What if my hearing isn't that bad?

Addressing hearing changes and treating hearing loss (even if it's mild) benefits your overall health and may protect you from serious conditions like dementia, depression, injury-causing falls, and social isolation.

How can I check my hearing?

Getting your hearing checked is now easier than ever with in-person and at-home options:

- Virtual screening - allows you to confirm if hearing loss is detected from the comfort of home with the help of an Amplifon care advocate.
- In-person hearing evaluation at an Amplifon network clinic near you. A hearing care professional will complete an in-depth evaluation of your hearing and propose solutions if hearing loss is detected.
